Artist Bio

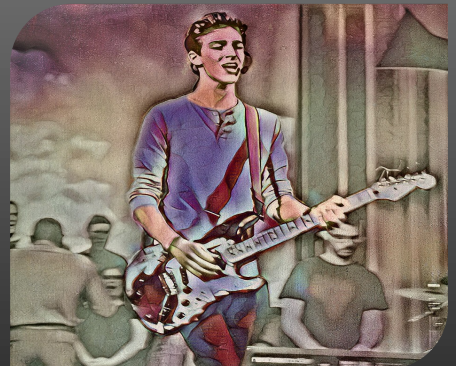

Born and raised in rural NC, Coby James has had music in his blood from an early age. He started playing piano at the age of 5, and as soon as he was big enough to hold a guitar his journey began. Coby began playing and singing at church whenever he got the opportunity and still continues to lead worship in his youth band weekly.

Coby loves performing live and has opened for artists like Brannan Murphy and Shane and Shane. After completing his second album, NEproject8, Coby's new passion turned to collaborating with other artists and creating music together. His latest project features Steven Malcolm, DJB, and Guitarist Alex Williams. He also has several others in the works coming later this year.

Coby's family has been a big influence on his love for music. "All of my siblings are musical and sing and play instruments, and I even get them to perform with me sometimes". Coby has been drawn to music and loves arranging parts and instruments to work in harmony together.

"Albums are stepping stones.. each one builds on the last and each one gets better." Coby's first album, Infused, was released in 2017. "I'm not sure what my next album will be called, but I will pour whatever the Lord gives me into it."

"My real test of a song is if you take away all the instruments and remove the beat, is there a message left that connects with your fans." -Coby James

"I try to communicate in my music that no matter where life takes you, it's always reassuring to know you have a God that loves and comforts you."

-Coby James
